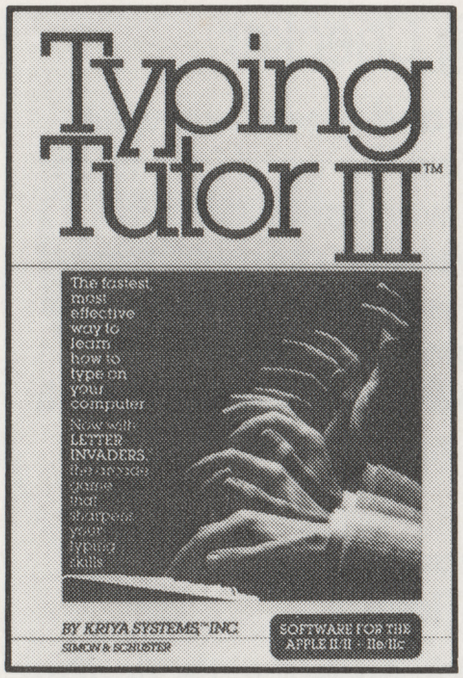
COMPUTER SOFTWARE



Typing Tutor III

by Kriya Systems, Inc.

"The best typing instruction program for personal computing that I have seen."
—Erik Sandberg-Diment, New York Times

Hailed as the #1 educational software program on the market, Typing Tutor III is the fastest, most effective way to learn to type on your home computer. The program adjusts itself to your level automatically, giving you customed-designed lesons that test your strengths and weaknesses. It also features Letter Invaders, the arcade-style game that gets faster as your typing gets better.

Available for IBM PC, PCjr, PC/XT, PC AT, $49.95; Apple II, II+, IIe, IIc, $49.95; Commodore 64/128, $39.95; Apple Macintosh, Mac Plus, $59.95.

Star Trek®
The Kobayashi Alternative

In this unique interactive text adventure, you become Captain Kirk and plot the course of the Enterprise to 15 different star systems. Select landing parties, call on the aid of your crew, contact strange alien civilizations and command the Enterprise to find Lt. Sulu and his vanished starship. Produced in cooperation with Paramount Pictures, the creators of Star Trek®, the game features a "personality database" for each of the Star Trek® crew members. The package includes a special briefing with clues and hints for better play.

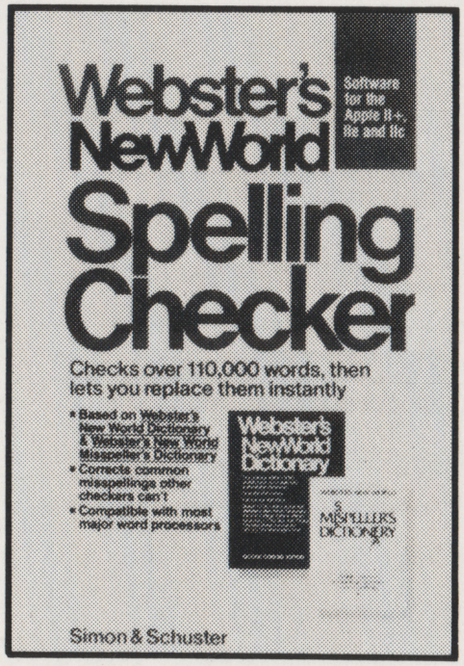
Available for IBM PC, PCjr, PCXT, and PC AT, $39.95; Apple II+, IIe, IIc, $39.95; Commodore 64/128, $39.95; Apple Macintosh, $39.95.

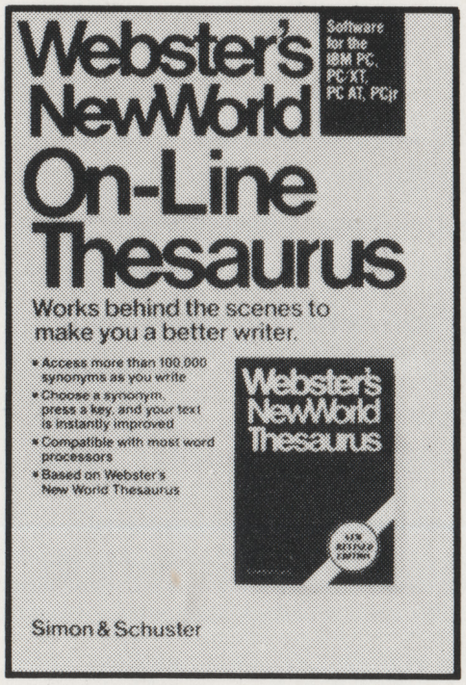


Webster's New World™ Spelling Checker

Lots of spelling checkers can spot mistakes and typos, but none can touch Webster's when it comes to finding the word you meant to type! Not sure of the spelling? Type the word phonetically. Webster's is "fenomenal" at "phixes." Webster's corrects transpositions, repeated and run-on words, misspelled contractions and abbreviations, even faulty hyphenations. And there's no annoying "beep" while you write; Webster's puts the final polish on your document when you're ready. Compatible with most major word processors.

"The best proofreading software on the market."
—Henry Kisor, Chicago Sun Times

Available for IBM PC, PCjr, PC/XT, PC AT, $59.95; Apple II+, IIe, IIc, (ProDos/Dos 3.3) $59.95.

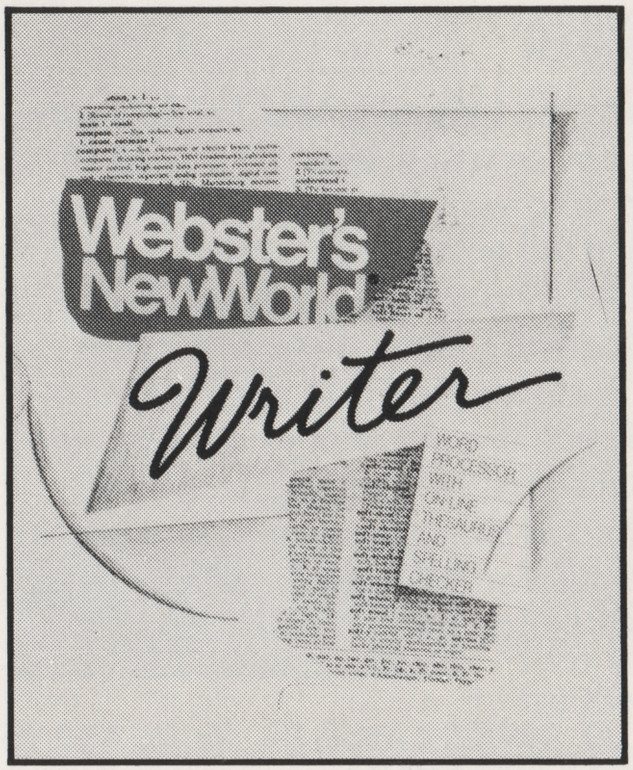


Webster's New World™ On-Line Thesaurus

Those words on the tip of your tongue now appear in front of your eyes with Webster's New World On-Line Thesaurus. Stuck for just the right word? Let Webster's find the perfect way to express your thoughts. Browse through pages of synonyms while keeping an on-screen notepad of alternatives. Webster's handles more than just single words; it can also look up whole phrases! The most grammatically intelligent software thesaurus available, Webster's will change "a" to "an" before a new synonym and adjust prefixes and suffixes as well. Turn "a saga" into "an epic" with Webster's. Works with more than 30 popular word processors.

"Truly amazing...outclasses every other program of its type."
—John C. Dvorak, San Francisco Examiner

Available for IBM PC, PCjr, PC/XT, PC AT, $69.95.



Webster's New World™ Writer
Word Processor with On-Line Thesaurus and Spelling Checker

Quick! What's the difference between Ctrl-F6 and Shift-F6? If you're like most people, you can't remember the complicated, arbitrary codes and symbols most word processors use.

When you need to write well, you need the first word processor designed for grown-ups. Webster's is a full-featured word processor that includes the most complete, sophisticated spelling checker and thesaurus on the market...at half the price of comparable packages. No need to memorize complicated symbols; Webster's lets you breeze through copy with commands you can't forget. Press Alt-B, and your words become BOLD. Alt-U, and they're Underlined. Or, if you prefer, simply select "Bold" or "Underline" from the on-screen menus. Letters, memos, or the Great American Novel will pour out with professional polish. Webster's New World Writer gives you all the advantages of word processing—without the disadvantages.

Available for IBM PC, PC/XT, PC AT, $150.00.

Available for IBM PC, PCjr, PC/XT, $79.95; Apple II, II+, IIe, IIc, $79.95.

Spy Hunter

When it was introduced in the arcades, Spy Hunter roared to the top of the charts. And no wonder: It's a fast action, sharp shooting, hard-driving game that puts the player in command of an almost unlimited arsenal of weapons. Check out the machine guns, oil slicks, smoke screens, heat-seeking missiles, and some of the finest driving music you've ever heard.

Available for IBM PC, $29.95; Apple II, IIe, IIc, $29.95; Commodore 64/128 $29.95; Atari 600XL, 800, 800XL, 1200XL, $29.95.

Tapper

Tapper is already a smash arcade game across the country. Its four different bars are crowded with unruly (and very thirsty) customers. Then the action gets really wild as the bartender scrambles to draw and serve drinks to them all. Don't forget to leave a tip on the bar so the dancing girls will come out and do their number!

Available for IBM PC, PCjr, $29.95; Apple II, IIe, IIc, $29.95; Commodore 64/128, $29.95; Atari 600XL, 800, 800XL, 1200XL, $29.95.

The Mac Art Dept.

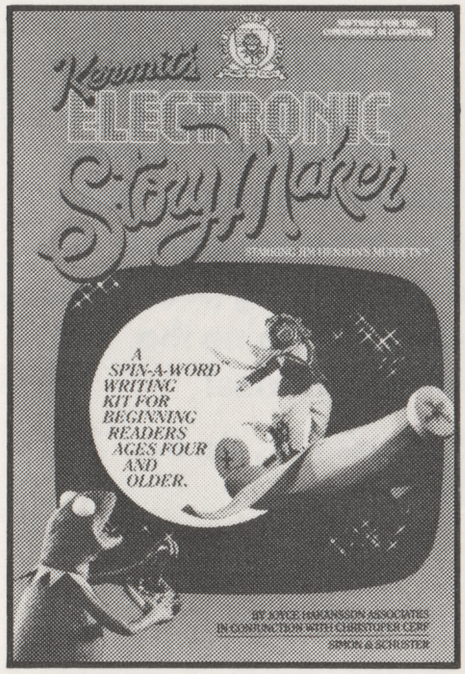
With The Mac Art Dept. you can use your imagaination to create personal stationery, letterheads, newsletters, flyers, posters...any printed material. An easy-to-use manual explains how to take more than 100 images—from household objects and food to intricate borders, travel images, musical instruments and more—and modify them to suit your design needs.

Available for Apple Macintosh, $39.95.

The Great International Paper Airplane Construction Kit

Using the graphics capabilities of your personal computer and paint program, this software lets you choose from over a dozen full page airplane designs. Embellish the wings, furnish the planes with windows, hatches, landing gear, engine covers...even a pilot. Then, print your creation, fold...and take off!

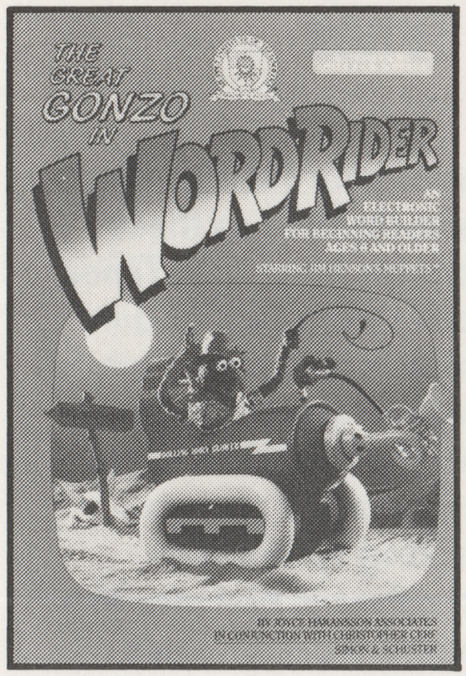
Available for IBM PC, PCjr, PC/XT, PC AT, $39.95; Apple II+, IIe, IIc (ProDos), $39.95; Commodore 64/128, $29.95; Apple Macintosh, $39.95.



Kermit's Electronic Storymaker

With Kermit's Electronic Storymaker, children (age 4 and up) will create their own animated stories using the Muppets as actors! Kermit, Miss Piggy, Gonzo and the rest can be made to dance, fly spaceships, or sail boats in settings from the ocean floor to the surface of the moon. While your child is using his imagination he will also be learning the rudiments of sentence structure and building his vocabulary.

Available for Apple II, II+, IIe, IIc, $19.95; Commodore 64, $19.95.



The Great Gonzo in Wordrider

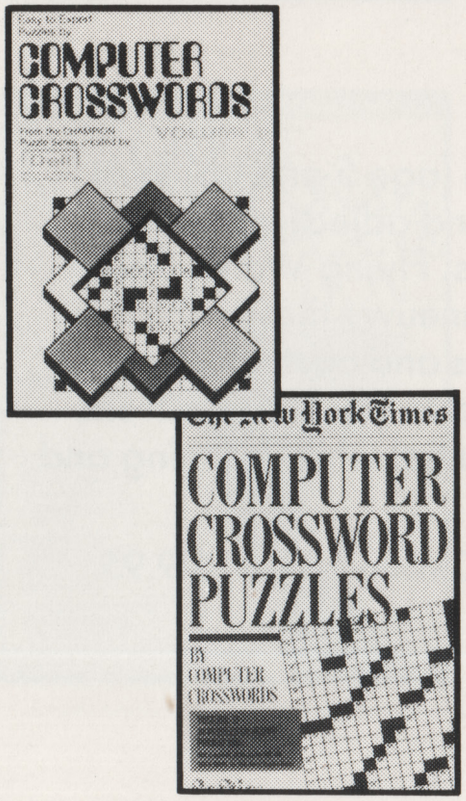
In yet another Muppet adventure, children (age 5 and up) must overcome obstacles by combining nouns and adjectives to build animated vehicles—Climbing EggCatchers, Flying Water-Squirters, Bouncing Hole-Makers—and then maneuver these vehicles through a variety of funny perils. The paths and obstacles keep changing and the number of points needed to win keeps increasing—so kids can stretch their creative potential while learning and having fun.

Available for Apple II, II+, IIe and IIc, $19.95; Commodore 64, $19.95.

Chem Lab

Puts young chemists (ages 9–13) in charge of a computerized chemistry laboratory. It has everything the old-fashioned chemistry sets had—bunsen burners, heat and pressure chambers, separate dispensers for gas and liquids—all without the mess and smell. More than 50 experiments structured as amusing problems of varying degrees of difficulty. But be careful...combine the wrong chemicals, and the image on the screen explodes!

Available for IBM PC, PC/XT, PCjr, PC AT, $39.95; Apple II+, IIe, IIc, $39.95; Commodore 64/128 and Atari 800XL, $39.95.



Dell Champion Computer Crosswords and The New York Times Computer Crossword Puzzles

There have probably been many things about your PC that've puzzled you before, but nothing quite as entertaining as these computer crosswords. Adapted from the famous New York Times weekday crosswords and the popular puzzles from Dell Champion Puzzle Magazines series, thirty crosswords appear on each disk, ranging in difficulty from one star* to three stars. Solve them in the usual way, or if you get stuck, try the "Special Clues" feature for assistance. Computer Crosswords include preprogrammed answers plus a built-in word-checking system that allows the beginner to become a champion solver in no time. You can even save partially completed puzzles and work on them later!

Both available for IBM PC, PCjr; Apple II, II+, IIe, IIc, $19.95; Commodore 64; Atari 800/800XL, $19.95.
